1. Call to Order and Introductions

At 7:18 p.m. Co-chair Chris Martin called the meeting to order by welcoming attendees and asking them to introduce themselves.

2. Establish the Quorum

The quorum was approved with 9 voting members. [4 voting members are required for a quorum of the Steering Committee.]

3. Public Comment

Josh Daniels brought up the enrollment challenges facing the District, at Malcolm X and Cragmont as well as Washington and BAM. He noted that back in the 1980's, the District was closing school sites, but current demographic studies now show that enrollment will be back above 10,000 students in about three years. He said that the Board will be looking at options over the next four meetings to relieve pressure at the school sites, but the first step is to look at data at the October 8 meeting. He invited all interested parties to attend or watch the proceedings. Because of the pressure on facilities, they will be looking at K-3 class size even though this may preempt the two-year discussion that would occur in the roll-up to the new BSEP measure.

A question as to the best process for constructing/renewing the next measure is whether to begin by compiling a wish list - the thought is to ground the process by finding out what the various options would cost, especially given the split roll tax concern.

The Board will approve the language of the Measure, although it will likely be written by committee. The BSEP department must be careful that it can discuss parameters but not campaign, especially once the Measure is adopted by the Board in June 2016.

5. P&O Subcommittees and Related Committees

Natasha Beery, BSEP Director

There was a discussion on how to handle the various P&O subcommittees and whether to build in time on alternate Tuesdays or to extend the time on meeting days. Martin suggested that the people who are going to be on the Subcommittees have the opportunity to weigh in. In preparation, the BSEP staff will find available dates. Martin also suggested that there not be subcommittees for everything and that the most important be prioritized, i.e. CSR, Technology, VAPA, Library, and BSEP Measure Awareness.

6. Chairperson(s) for the P&O Committee for FY 2014-15

Martin informed the committee that he would be stepping down as co-chair and was then asked what he thought were important qualities for a chairperson to have. He expressed the thought that the P&O Chair and those involved in the new measure would be different, although those roles had meshed before. He stated that it was important to maintain active communication with BSEP staff and Board, to make meeting time productive. He said there was some prep time in looking at the agenda and how one would want to manage the time.

Hensley suggested that the chair understand this committee's charge with the measure winding down. This coming year, there would be multiple calls for service. Beery expressed appreciation for a chair who is able to keep the meeting running smoothly, who is balanced and not necessarily an advocate with an agenda. The chair would make sure that everyone is able to speak. Martin added that the chair needn't respond to everything. Chris invited others to speak with him if they have questions. Harm complimented Martin on his work and how his unique set of characteristics have made the meetings flow.

7. Update on 2013-14 Closing and Budget Revisions

Natasha Beery, BSEP Director

Beery stated that more information will be available at the November meeting. She did go over some major points, including the fact that many of the school sites have a fair amount of carryover to work with this year. Next year, however, there is not much fund balance to increase the allocations, and there will probably be less per student. On a

• BSEP Planning and Oversight Committee, Proposed Guidelines for Budget occurring after Approval of Annual Plan

Beery presented the guidelines that had been discussed regarding the various BSEP budgets and what to do if there are changes. The guideline would be presented in October with action at the next meeting. It is a guideline, not a bylaw, which gets re-written with the measure. This degree of detail is not necessarily going to be in the Measure.
